FROM OUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

2016 was an eventful year for Oregon Walks as we continued to advance our mission of making walking safe, convenient, and attractive for everyone. In late 2015, our Board of Directors held a retreat to develop our strategic plan and vision for the next three years at Oregon Walks. The goals of this retreat were to better define and hone our work to make the most impact for people on foot, and 2016 was the first year that we were able to develop and deliver toward this vision. We were busy!

We helped to implement the City of Portland’s Vision Zero Action Plan — leading us toward the goal of zero traffic fatalities by 2025, with a strong equity lens. We developed the first pedestrian-focused open streets event series, Oregon Walkways, and delivered ¡Cully Camina! with community based partners in the Cully neighborhood. We strengthened our partnerships and coalition work, and began defining how we define effective advocacy and walking programming for people who are most impacted by a lack of safe and accessible walking environments.

To me, it is no coincidence that our strategic and streamlined focus in 2016 helped us in having one of the most successful fundraising years to date, as well. The support from our community showed us that we are heading in the right direction, and building a movement toward safe, and livable, streets for everyone. We are already growing that momentum into 2017, and we hope you’ll join us on the next steps of our journey.
