OREGON WALKS YESTERDAY. TODAY. TOMORROW.

Every day, your support improves the conditions for walking in Oregon. We believe walking is a key component of personal and community health, and we are dedicated to promoting walking and making walking safe, convenient, and attractive for everyone.

In 2018 we deepened our commitment to walking advocacy and transportation justice. We continued building relationships with community partners interested in listening to and responding to the needs of people walking on our most unsafe sidewalks and streets. We partnered with AARP, Rosewood Initiative and community to host dozens of walks. Our staff and volunteers reviewed hundreds of pages of urban design plans and showed up to give crucial pedestrian-focused testimony at every level of municipal government. Our staff and volunteers sat on multiple taskforce committees representing pedestrian perspectives, and we showed up at rallies and vigils for people who died in crashes in Oregon while walking. We continue to say collectively: walking is good for people and communities, and we will make streets safe for pedestrians in Oregon.

We will be navigating an exciting path forward in the coming months and years. Together, we will chart a path forward that is deeply informed by the experience and passion of our longtime members, while also being inspired by new members' perspectives and wisdom. Oregon Walks will continue to protect our individual and collective right to roam: yesterday, today, and tomorrow. Walk on!
